

La lampada da terra Fortuny fu ideata per la prima volta nel 1907 da Mariano Fortuny ed è tuttora considerata un'icona contemporanea e intramontabile. Le conoscenze e il talento dell'eclettico artista diedero forma al progetto della lampada Fortuny con cui rivoluzionò l'illuminazione scenica andando a sperimentare un nuovo sistema di luce indiretta per il palcoscenico. A suggerirne la base fu il treppiede della macchina fotografica, con la gamba centrale regolabile, mentre per il paralume Fortuny invertì i paralumi tipici dell'epoca rendendoli ribaltabili e creando così uno strumento per orientare la luce. Nella storia del design sono pochi i progetti capaci di prestarsi a interpretazioni sempre nuove, mantenendo un'inconfondibile personalità.

Conceived by Mariano Fortuny in 1907, the Fortuny floor lamp continues to be considered a contemporary and timeless icon to this day. The know-how and talent of the eclectic artist gave shape to the Fortuny lamp design with which he revolutionized stage lighting and experimented with a new indirect lighting system for the stage. The idea for the base came from the camera's tripod, with its adjustable leg, while for the lampshade Mariano Fortuny reversed the typical lampshades of the time, making them tiltable and thus creating a light orientation instrument. In the history of design, there are few projects capable of lending themselves to new interpretations, keeping an unmistakable personality.
